Who We Are

The Employer Childcare Development Program supports Nevada businesses with attracting and retaining their workforce by supporting family-friendly policies and benefits.

Employers who help find or offset the cost of childcare are more likely to retain their workforce.

All services are free of charge in order to support Nevada's employers and families.

Nevada Cost of Care

Infant and Toddler care in Nevada is more expensive than college tuition. The cost of Infant care for one child is approximately 20% of a median family income. For a worker earning minimum wage it would be 60.9%. Childcare for a family with an infant and toddler would be 38.9% of a median family's income. Employers investing in childcare solutions is a critical strategy in supporting and stabilizing Nevada's workforce. ¹

Nevada in Crisis

Workforce shortage

Nevada is experiencing a workforce crisis which has been exasperated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Many employees, disproportionately women, have left the workforce in-order to care for their young children. In order to remain competitive in attracting new talent, and to stabilize their existing workforce, employers are exploring their family-friendly support benefits.

Care shortage

Nevada is considered a childcare “desert” due to the lack of availability for families needing childcare throughout our state, especially for those with infants and toddlers. This issue has only compounded since the onset of the pandemic, and many childcare facilities have closed their doors permanently, decreasing the already limited childcare spaces.

If childcare is not available, 73% of parents would have to make major changes at work. ³

A Changing Workforce

The competition for talent is at an all-time high with over 10.9 million job openings.⁴ By offering "family-friendly" benefits employers can keep their workforce engaged and happy while also attracting new talent. In a recent study, 63% of businesses are considering offering increased child care benefit.

The Benefits of Employer Support

The Benefits of Employer Support

Not all employers can offer on-site childcare, but there are many options for businesses to support their employees' work-life balance. It is important for businesses to design a meaningful benefits package, and create a culture that embraces and supports working parents. By adopting family-friendly policies, and reducing the stigma of employees leveraging their benefits, the workplace will thrive. The days of "work comes first" and "family comes second" are gone. The workforce of today seek a sustainable work-life balance that prioritizes family-friendly employers.

Goals

3. Complete
Needs
Assessment

4. Aggregate
Results

5. Support
through Implementation

1. Analyze Current Benefits

Our program will assess your current benefits package and benchmark it against national and local standards. This will help you understand how your business compares both nationally and regionally against other potential employers. We will also analyze the utilization of employee benefits and communication strategies for employee engagement.

2. Discuss Workforce Goals

Our team will facilitate a conversation about your workforce goals.

Understanding these goals will help drive our conversations and inform possible solutions to increase your family-friendly policies and fringe benefits.

3. Complete Needs Assessment

Understanding how your employee demographics and needs intersect is paramount to identifying solutions that have the greatest return on investment.

We will work with you to design a unique assessment that can measure your employee needs. Once the assessment is defined, we will administer it to your employees using an online survey software. If needed, we can also facilitate focus groups to dig deeper into employee needs and possible solutions.
